- Background Information: Provide brief context or background information that helps the reader understand the topic.
- Thesis Statement: Clearly state the main argument or point of your essay. The thesis should outline the three key points discussed in the body paragraphs.

2. Body Paragraph 1

- Topic Sentence: Introduce the first main point that supports your thesis.
- Supporting Detail 1: Provide evidence, examples, or facts to support the topic sentence.
- Supporting Detail 2: Additional evidence or examples that reinforce the first point.
- Analysis: Explain how the supporting details relate to the topic sentence and the thesis.

3. Body Paragraph 2

- Topic Sentence: Introduce the second main point that supports your thesis.
- Supporting Detail 1: Provide evidence, examples, or facts to support the topic sentence.
- Supporting Detail 2: Additional evidence or examples reinforce the second point.
- Analysis: Explain how the supporting details relate to the topic sentence and the thesis.

4. Body Paragraph 3

- Topic Sentence: Introduce the third main point that supports your thesis.
- Supporting Detail 1: Provide evidence, examples, or facts to support the topic sentence.
- Supporting Detail 2: Additional evidence or examples that reinforce the third point.
- Analysis: Explain how the supporting details relate to the topic sentence and the thesis.

5. Conclusion

- Restate Thesis: Rephrase your thesis statement to remind the reader of your essay's main argument.
- Summary of Main Points: Briefly summarize the three main points discussed in the body paragraphs.
- Closing Thought: End with a final thought or reflection that leaves a lasting impression on the reader. This could be a call to action, a prediction, or a thought-provoking statement.
